In a place I know a magician has a show. In his basket deep, lies a cobra fast asleep. When the master pipes a haunting sound, it rises up and looks around. It bends and sways, while the master's music plays.